In the Efforts of the Cronin Suspects,

PROVE THEIR INNOCENCE.

A Number of Witnesses Testify in Their Behalf. But No Two Tell Exactly the same Story-The White Horse Again Receives a Great Deal of Attention During the Day.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Judge McCon-nell's branch of the criminal court was called to order at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, and the Cronin trial resumed. Redmond McDonald, a policeman of East Chicago avenue station, was the first witness called, and was examined by Mr. Forrest.

The witness testified that he went to Casey's funeral on the afternoon of May 4 in a buggy with Officer Richard McCormick. He went on duty as a patrolman at 7 o clock that evening, his beat being on the west side of Clark street, and east side of Wells street from Oak street to Chicago avenue. He remained on duty until 4 o'clock in the morning.
He saw Dan Coughlin that night, as the latter was going into the station about 8:45 or 9 o'clock. Witness was on Wells street and was just going into the patrol house. Witness was a member of Camp 20.
Cross-examined by Mr. Hynes, wit-Casey's funeral on the afternoon of May

of Camp 20.
Cross-examined by Mr. Hynes, witness said his number was 72 (indicating that he was an 'old member). Witness could not remember what he did, or where he went the day of the funeral, nor whom he saw at the Casey funeral. He did not go inside of the church, but stayed in the buggy. Witness returned from the cemetery about 5 o'clock and went to Garrity's saloon. (Whalen yesterday was positive it was 6 o'clock). He did not see Martin Burke at the funeral nor did he see Dan Coughlin at Garrity's saloon. Witness denied that he went to Dinan's livery stable Saturday night to ask if all the rigs were in. he went to Dinan's livery stable Saturday night to ask if all the rigs were in. It was on his beat, but he didn't go, because he knew nothing about it. Coughlin was standing on the station steps when witness saw him, and he said "Good evening" to him, and Coughlingaid the same said the same.

Witness knew Coughlin was suspected of complicity in the case, because he read it in the papers.

Witness upon being pressed said that he did not know that not a word had been printed on the subject until three days after the corpse had been found in the Lakeview catch basin. He had told no one but Stott, because he (the witness) was a member of Camp 20 and did not want to get his name mixed with not want to get his name mixed with the case. Witness admitted that he had been in Dolan's saloon Monday night. These questions indicate that a small army of detectives are keeping track of the movements of witnesses for the de-

William Mulcahy, an employe of O'Sullivan, the ice man, testified that a man resembling coughlin called at the ice man's residence in April and asked him if he knew Kunze. On his replying in the affirmative he told him to notify him (Coughlin) by telephone to the Chicago avenue station when he turned up.

Coughlin was confronted with the witness, but the latter would not swear withers, but the latter would not swear that it was the same man. Mulcahy went on to say that in April he was troubled with a sore leg and that O'Sullivan told him to go down and see Dr. Croniu, as he had a contract with him. He also swore that on May 4 he was out with Su'livan peddling ice until late in the evening. They went home late in the evening. They went home and had supper. O'Sullivan went to bed at 9 o'clock, the witness following soon after. About 10 o'clock he was awakened by hearing some of the workmen returning. O'Sullivan went down and let them in. He and O Sullivan remained in the same room for the rest of mained in the same room for the rest of the night. Witness had gotten one hundred cards from O'Sullivan toward the last of April and distributed them to stores and saloons.

On cross-examination by Judge Longenecker the witness exhibited a poor memory. He said he had known O Sullivan's brother in Iowa, and had brought a letter of introduction from him to the Lakeview man. Although he had occupied the same room with O Sullivan he could not tell the color of his underwear, what time he went to bed or what time he got up. He admitted that O'Sullivan might have left the room without his knowing it. The witness was plied with questions concerning the clothes he wore and how often he was shaved in May, which led to the suspicion that the state's attorto the suspicion that the state's attor-ney believed that the witness was the man that drove the white horse. For-rest objected to the question as in-sinuating, but the court ruled other-wile.

Thomas Whalen, a cousin of O'Sullivan, with whom the iceman and his employes boarded was the next witness. He remembered the evening of May 4. Witness had supper with O'Sutlivan and the rest of the family, and went to bed early. O'Sullivan had gone to bed previously. Whalen slept very soundly, and if O'Sullivan went out he did not hear him. The witness also remove hear him. The witness also remembered Sunday evening. May 5. When he came home that night he found the two Hylands at his house. They and O'Sullivan went out about 10 o clock, and O'Sullivan returned alone, the Hylands having gone home.

This was to fortify the evidence of the Hylands as to their drinking with O'Sullivan at Nielnan's saloon. At the concursion of Whalan's saloon. conclusion of Whalen's examination court adjourned to 2 o'clock.

William M. Glenn, a reporter, was the first witness at the afternoon session. In an interview May 11 Mrs. Conklin told the witness that Capt. Schaack had brought a horse to her on the day before, and that it in no way resembled the one that took Dr. Cronin away; that it was a jaded old nag, while the one which drove the doctor while the one which drove the doctor away was a spirited one.

Robert Boynton, who boarded with Tom Whelan May 4, testified that he and two other men were out on the night of May 4, and when they returned about 10 o'clock O'Sullivan came down stairs in his night clothes and admitted him. mitted him.

James Knight, an employe of O'Sullivan, gave testimony corroborative of Witness Boynton relative to the occurrences of the night of May 4. On the cross-examination he severely impaired the attempts of the defense to show by former witnesses that early in the evening on May 5, when the Hyland cousins called O'Sullivan was not at home. He said O'Sullivan was at home at 3 o'clock that afternoon and remained there until he left with the Hylands at 10 o clock. Hylands at 10 o clock.

James Minnhan, another employe of O'Sullivan's, reported the story about what took place at the O'Sullivan household on May 4. He also rendered null, to the great extent, the testimony of the Highlands, who declared that they did not visit O'Sullivan's house between May 5 an l last Sunday, by swearing that he saw them there on May 12. Continuing Minnehan said that he got O'Sullivan's cards from the printer last May and distributed a number of them

Jacob Schnur, trunk manufacturer, testified to having examined the bloody trunk, lock, and paint-stained key in possession of the state's attorney; that he manufactured the trunk and many others like it, and that the key and lock others like it. and that the key and lock had many duplicates.

Patrick Brennan, another employe of O'Sullivan's, told of being in the iceman's house on the night of May 4; of all having supper between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, and of O'Sullivan and Mulcaning to be the teact have at 9 o'clock. hey going to bed together at 9 o clock. Court then adjourned for the day.

A Mammoth Coal Vein.

MAHONY PLANE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Law-rence & Brown. of Mahony Plane col-liery, have made a tremendous hit in striking a new mammoth vein of anthra-oite coal. The vein is said to be 200 feet thick, containing millions of tons. It will go on record as the greatest accidental 'find' of pure coal ever known. The vein was struck while making a drift 440 yards under the surface. It is now believed the mammoth vein basin has been found. It is impossible at this time to accurately compute the millions of tons of anthracite fuel contained in it, but the operators regard it as inexhaust-

It is reported that Mr. Warner will be president of the new company.

"Boiled Victuals and Johnny Cake." PALMER, N. Y., Nov. 20. - Walter Haynes, of Brumfield, celebrated his one hundredth birthday vesterday. He is in excellent health and does not look to be over 75. As a carpenter, Mr. Haynes helped to build the first block erected in Syracuse, N. Y., and alone excavated a quarter section of twenty-six rols of the Erie canal. He never used liquor or tobacco, and attributes his longevity to boiled victuals and "Johnny cake"

A Small Freight Wreck.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 20.—A rail-road wreck happened on the Worcester division of the New York, Providence and Boston railroad, at North Bridge, about 9 o clock last evening. The accident was caused by the rear end of a freight train crashing into the front part of the train, the coupling pin having been withdrawn to take on two box cars. The tracks were blocked several hours. No one was injured. No one was injured.

HEAVY FLOODS IN THE EAST.

Many Railroad Bridges Washed Away, One of Them Containing a Heavy Loaded Freight Train-The Rain Storm Attended by Heavy Gales-Communication Cut Off From Many Places, Making it Impossible to Learn the Full Extent of the Damage.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 20.-All the small streams in this vicinity have overflowed their banks owing to the heavy rain which has prevailed during the past twenty-four hours. The Sus-quehanna river here has reached the fifteen-foot mark and is still rising, and from reports from above it is liable to rise several more feet during the next few hours.

Graffer's run has overflowed its banks and many of the streets were all flooded. A call has been received here for loaded cars to weight down some of the bridges on the Northern Central railroad.

Lycoming creek is within two feet of the June flood at Cogan station.

Bridges 1, 2, 8, 18 and 19 on the Northern Central railway have been carried away, and the running of all trains have been abandoned. The Philadelphia and Reading Railway company are running trains to Montgomery. The bridges at West Milton and Muncy, on the Reading railway, are disabled, as well as the i hiladelphia and Erie bridge at Montgomery.

A dispatch from Watsontown says Two spans of temporary trestling of the Two spans of temporary trestling of the Montgomery bridge on the Philadelphia and Erie road were moved several feet, and a number of braces swept from under them. The Niagara express was stopped here and all passengers taken back to Sunbury. No trains can pass over the bridge for twenty-four hours, and if the water rises much higher the time may be still further extended.

Affairs at Reading.

READING, Pa., Nov. 20. - The rain of the past thirty-six hours has again caused a rise in the Schuylkill, and the river has overdowed its banks. The Maiden creek, Tulpehocken, Monocairy and other tributaries are greatly swol-len. The storm has been very severe, and many of the streets of the city are under water, and cellars in different sections have been flooded.

Hundreds of acres of farming lands have been inundated by the Schulkill river overnowing its banks.

Reading railroad officials here have been informed that a number of their collieries have been flooded. The water in the Schuylkill is now over seven feet above high water work, and work on the bridges at Phænixville tunnel and at the falls of Schuylkill has to be temporarily suspended.

Raining for Forty-Eight Hours.

BELLEFONTE, Pa,. Nov. 20. - For the past forty-eight hours rain has fallen here incessantly and the waters are very high. Reports from the surrounding country give the flood almost as great as last June. At Milhall the water is if anything higher than it was at that time. There is no railroad communica-tions over the Philadelphia and Erie railway, all bridges being washed away. No train has arrived in Beliefonte over the Lewisburg road for twelve hours, and reports state that the road is being badly used up.

Lock Haven and Clearfield are reported to be badly flooded. At this writing the rain has ceased but the clouds are yet very threatening.

Bridge and Train Fall Into a River. BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 20.—An Erie special from Sunbury, Pa., says the Susquehanna river has been swollen to enormous proportions by the late rains, and great damage is reported from various towns along its course. At Milton the Pennsylvania railroad bridge was in danger, and in order to hold it in place a heavy coal train was run upon it. The train had been standing on the bridge when the structure gave way and the bridge and train fell with a crash into the river.

Railroads Completely Paralyzed.

BUFFALO, Nov. 20. - The heavy rains BUFFALO, Nov. 20.—The heavy rains this week have caused such a rise in the streams east of Hornellsville that the tracks of the Erie and Lackawanna roads have suffered severely. The Erie track is gone in several places between Hornellsville and Painted Post, and no trains are running through. No serious accident has occurred. The Lackawanna road is reported to be in equally as bad shape.

Still Raining in New Jersey.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., Nov. 20. - Monday night one of the worst rains of the season set in here and still continues without the slightest signs of abatement. A heavy northeast gale prevails and rain is falling in torrents. The tide is unusually high and vessels experienced much trouble in holding their anchorage. Business is wholly suspended. Much damage has been done.

Streets Under Water.

ELECTON, Md., Nov. 20.—A heavy rain has allen throughout this section since Sunday night. All streams are high, and it is thought that many country bridges have been swept away. The streets of this place are badly washed, and many are under water. Cellars are flooded and great damage has been done to the town.

[Chicago Globe.] There will be no hesitation in the minds 7 p. m., or to the theater at 20 o'clock, inof candid men about arriving at the conclusion that a most infamous outrage has been committed by the Republican Re-turning Poard in Montana. The votes of citizens have been suppressed, and by this process the scoundrels have counted in candidates who were rejected by the people, and given the Republicans a majority of the Legislature. No question at all exists about the facts of the case. It is an undisguised act of revolutionary political robbery. THE DOVER DISTRICT.

What County Superintendent Galbraith Says of the Public School Down There.

The enrollment of the Dover school is as follows: Principal's room_e(F. A. Savage), 33 attendan e, 24; Miss Lottle Evans' room, 53 attendance, 85; Miss Nora Wayland's room, 86, at endance, 28.

The trustees, John L Boyd, J J. McMillen and August Miller, deserve great credit for the new school house, which is an excellent bui ding with three rooms, well farnished and comfortable in all of their appointments. The new house is a brick structure, and one in which the town may take just pride. Indeed we have every reason to believe that the school will now do better work than it has heretofore.

The classes examined acquitted themselves well. I was especially pleased with the arithmetic class in Mr. Savage's room. I was also pleased to find that in his management of the U.S. history class he made use of outlines of the subject, rather than the questions of the book, thus securing a rational investigation full of interest and profit. Nor can I omit to mention his spelling class, and reeommend that our other teachers follow his example in teaching inot only the sounds of the letters but the diacritical marks, which are required in the written spelling.

In Miss Evans' room we found the sand-box for the use of the Geography class in constructing relief maps, while Miss Wayland's classes, the primary, were moving on bravely with their writing, having their slates ruled and receiving careful instruction.

The written work and monthly reports are in use, and, in fact, the school presented an earnest, active and systematic line of work in all of its departments, such work as will tell for great good in the lives of the pupils.

One of the most most wonderful railways on the continent, if not in the world, is the nine-mile branch which connects the towns of Bedford and Belleview, Mass. The distance is not so astonishing, except when the gauge of ten inches is considered. In the short distance traversed by the pigma it crosses eleven streams, with bridges from five to thirty-five feet in height. The rails weigh but two pounds to the yard, about the size of those used in the mines of Missouri and Illinois. The cars and engines are constructed so as to be very near the ground, insuring a greater safety. The cars are provided with single this year they are stronger than ever. itself weighs but four tons, the weight of MRS. MARY J. WALLER died last night an ordinary car being twenty-six tons. THE CHANGE SUCCESSFUL.

Confidence Shown in the Stability of the New Government-The New President Sends a Cablegram to London-Queen Victoria Invites Dom Pedro to Visit

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. - Charles R. Flint received two cablegrams from Brazil. One was from a merchant house in Para, and stated: "Exchange advanced from 274 to 274 pence; rubber advanced fifty rels. Brazil tranquil; revolution may cause trouble later on."

The other cable was from Rio. and confirmed the published reports about the departure of the imperial family and the proclamation of the republic; also, that the present government would carry out all the obligations of the imperial government, and that there was likely to be a peaceful solution of all difficulties.

Mr. Flint stated that the barometer by which the condition of affairs can be judged was the exchange, and the fact of the rate of exchange remaining onehalf pence, which corresponded to 14 per cent. is significant in showing that in the minds of the bankers and merchants the stability of Brazilian finances was not likely to be disturbed by the change of government.

"The rate of exchange in Brazil," Mr. Flint said, "corresponds exactly to the fluctuations of the greenback currency in this country during the

Washington, Nov. 20.—Dispatches were received at the Brazilian legation here yesterday morning from Rio Janeiro, reporting everything quiet there and the peaceful progress of the revolu-tion. Senor Valente, the Brazilian minister after reading these dispatches said that he placed no credence whatever in the European reports from Paris and Hamburg of rioting and fighting in

A Cablegram From the New President. LONDON. Nov. 20.—Senor Fonseca, provisional president of Brazil, cables to The Central News stating positively that Dom Pedro has departed for Lisbon. Senor l'onseca states that he and his colleagues intend to administer affairs until the country definitely chooses a permanent government.

Informing the Queen of the News. LONDON, Nov. 20. - The Duke of Nemours, father of Count D'Eu, son-inlaw of Dom Pedro, the exiled emperor of Brazil, has telegraphed to the queen at Balmoral that the emperor and his family embarked at Rio de Janeiro without being subjected to any disagreeable experiences.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Unsuccessful Strike of the Brooklyn Street Car Men.

New York, Nov. 20. -An abortive street car strike was undertaken in Brooklyn yesterday upon the lines controlled by the Atlantic avenue railroad company, ten in all. On Saturday President Richardson discharged eight men who had been in the employ of the company as drivers and conductors

They sought an interview with him on Monday morning, and they were told by President Richardson that the reason for their discharge was that it was not for the interests of the company to keep them any longer. On Monday evening the men from the various lines decided to strike Shortly after 5 a. m.

yesterday the running of cars was stopped:

President Richardson early learned of the situation, and was on hand taking measures to meet it. By noon the only indication of trouble was the long headway of the cars, and the presence of policemen on the platforms. About half the men were at work, and as the day passed a still greater number resumed their places. About 11 a. m. a committee of the Knights of Labor called on Mr. Richardson in the capacity of the executive committee of the Dis-

Mr. R chardson refused to treat with them as representatives of the Knights of Labor. The committee then returned to the headquarters to deliberate upon further measures. Most of the conductors and drivers appeared to know nothing about the cause of the strike, and those who did not return to work stood about in the rain disconsolate, or sought refuge in the liquor shops. At nightfall cars were run upon regular nightfall cars were run upon regular

Brazil, Ind., Nov. 20.—A mass meeting of the striking block miners of the central part of Clay county, was held at Church Hill mines, near Center Point, yesterday. It was unanimously agreed to resume work at the operators' offer, since all the bituminous and some block mines are running, and since forty per cent. of the strikers are at work at the reduction. This is the first break made in mass meeting. The affair is significant, though not many miners are represented. It represented the beginning of the end of the long strike among the block miners of Indiana.

The Knights of Labor.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—The morning session of the Knights of Labor was devoted to a discussion of the eight-hour question. Resolutions were adopted to the effect that the matter of short hours should be regulated by the demand. The effect of this is to leave it with the local assemblies to get as short hours as consistent with the different kinds of work. The general as-sembly favors a gradual reduction of time, but is opposed to any radical movement.

Serious Freight Wreck.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Nov. 20. - Report has reached here of a serious freight wreck in the Wichita canyon on the Denver, Fort Worth and Texas railway yesterday.
